

Like it or not! Samples

“Like it or not!” Is a highly versatile 'Go Fish!' style game which is used for expressing likes and dislikes. Two rules cards are included in this sample, one to demonstrate a “Go Fish!” game and the other a 'Pairs' game, where students will use the statements on the cards to ask questions and give answers such as “What does Lisa like to do/like doing? What else does she like to do/like doing/? Who likes/doesn't like to/ like...ing? And always more, The cards can also be used for pair work using "Do you like to.../like ...ing ...?" "What else to you like to .../like ...ing?"

The level is set at NFO book 4 and above.

The price will is 1,500 yen per pack of 80 cards.

Shuffle & deal 7 cards each, place pack face down. Lay face up and describe any pairs of cards "(Lisa) likes to/ likes ...ing ...." "She/He also likes to/likes ...ing ...." The game begins, Jun lays a card & says. "(Kim) likes ...ing ..../likes to ... ...." & now asks "Ai. What else does she/he like doing/like to do?" She answers and Jun keeps both cards or "I don't know." "Like it or not. Get a card!" He takes the top card from the pack, play now passes to the next player. When a player plays out her cards, continue until it's her turn again & the game now ends. Any unplayed cards can count as minus points. Note "doesn't like" is also expressed in the game

Like it or not! Pairs

Deal half the cards, players lay any pairs in their hand "Mary likes reading books and Mike likes reading comics." Scatter the remainder face up. The first player lays a card saying "Mike likes to study geography. Who likes to study geology? The first player to answer correctly (from hand or table) gets to keep both cards and play passes to the next player. For large classes use two packs in a 'no touch' game, give the team your question card as a point and leave the other card on the table, this forces scanning, keeps the packs separate and protects the resource. You can play any pairs game you are familiar with, with these cards. 🤪
